IT services firm Zensar Technologies said on Thursday that it has acquired US-based supply chain management firm Keystone Solutions for an undisclosed amount.

Zensar will retain Keystone's brand and team of around 220 people.

Keystone Solutions, based in Atlanta, Georgia, in the US, offers solutions to digitally manage orders and warehousing for large retail firms. It "will augment Zensar's existing retail management portfolio", Zensar Technologies CEO Sandeep Kishore said in a phone interview.
